DEMOCRAT CANDIDATES TO BE HERE OCT. 6

State Chairman McGonigle of the Arizona democratic party has notified W. M. Hughes of Williams that several democratic state candidates will be in Williams, Friday, Oct. 6 for the purpose of addressing Williams voters and to secure a suitable hall for them. This will probably be the only chance Williams voters will have to listen to the state candidates of the democratic party. The opportunity should not be missed. They are all earnest men of ability and they represent a good cause. They are entitled to a respectful hearing and a good house. They will all honor our noble president and our sturdy governor, both real democrats who carry out the principles of democracy in their respective administrations. Speakers have been in Williams who have filled the air with abuse of these progressive executives. Let us hear from their friends.

STATE CANDIDATES PRESENT

The regular meeting of the Williams Republican Club last Monday night was addressed by two state candidates Jo V. Prochaska, candidate for secretary of state, and Otis J. Baughn, candidate for judge for the supreme court. Mr. Prochaska took the leading role and made a good republican talk. Mr. Baughn refrained from partisan political discussion mostly but struck a few licks for Joseph H. Kibbey who could not be present. Several candidates for county office were present at the meeting. There were C. B. Wilson, T. H. Cureton, J. W. Lee, J. R. Sweeney, Fred Garing and F. W. Smith, chairman of the county central committee. Fred R. Ferguson of Williams presided at the meeting.

The Williams Public Library Association wishes to thank Miss Rose O'Connor for her kindness in presenting the library with three new late books. A them Book 17 by Booth Tarkington.

Thro the kindness of Mr. Reese the Williams Public Library Association will have charge of one moving picture a month, a per cent to be used to maintain the library. The first picture will be Saturday Oct. 7. "Home Sweet Home."

In addition to the candidate for state office at the democratic meeting at the Sultana to-morrow night will be addressed by Senator Ashurst and Congressman Hayden. Williams democrats have been very fortunate in securing the attendance of these distinguished men.

T. F. Holden is the west side candidate for supervisor and he should be elected. T. H. Cureton is the west side candidate for representative and he would make a good legislator. Would it not be a good thing for democrats and republicans of the west side to get together and elect these men? The east side should be willing to grant the west side these two officers at least.

PARENT-TEACHERS ASSN. ORGANIZED

Williams parents and teachers met last Friday afternoon in the school house and effected an organization to be known as the Parent-Teachers Association of Williams. The following officers were elected: Mrs. E. J. Nordyke, President; Mrs. W. M. Hughes, Vice President; Mrs. Thomas Owens, Secretary. A committee was appointed to canvass the Town in the interest of attendance at the meetings. This committee was made up of Mrs. Albert Lebesch, Chairman and Mrs. Duffield and Mrs. Wolfe. It was voted that the association should meet three times a year the first meeting to be called after the committee on attendance had canvassed the Town.

A good many amateurs were roaming the hills last Sunday trying to get a buck. The older hunters—a good many of them—thot it safer to remain at home. They said they did not want to be mistaken for a deer by a tenderfoot. They will try their luck later.

Thos. F. Weedon, Receiver at the U. S. Land office in Phoenix died last Saturday night at his home.

The petition which the Coconino Water and Development Company has had prepared and signed by a good many Williams people has not yet been presented to the Town council. The company has some legal points to clear up before going further with the proposition.

A FEW WORDS ABOUT AN EFFICIENT SHERIFF

Look over the official record of W. G. Dickinson, sheriff of Coconino county, and say if you can beat it. Only two years in office and he has established a record for efficiency which his successors will strive to emulate but can hardly hope to surpass. The famous Azbill case is enough to prove sheriff Dickinson a detective of marked ability. Few men could have connected up the incidents of that crime and forged a chain of evidence which could not be broken. Eminent attorneys strove to break it but it held.

W. G. Dickinson seeks a second term in the sheriff's office. Voters are accustomed to extend the courtesy of a second term to officials who have done well in office. They will hardly make an exception in sheriff Dickinson's case.

CHILD WELFARE

A Strong Address By F. E. McFadden

The News is pleased to present its readers with extracts from a strong address read before the Educational Department of the Woman's Club of Williams Tuesday p. m. Sept. 26. The News regrets that the address can not be presented in full, but lack of space this week forbids.

Prof. McFadden said—:

"We hear much about the importance of various crops but I want to call your attention to one super important crop, the boy and girl crop. It constitutes the hope of advancing civilization because only thru our boys and girls can continuity of social purposes be achieved.

This generation of adults is responsible for the progress of the next generation, for the upward or downward tendency of the next generation will depend on how this generation fits the next one to solve its unsolved problems and to complete its unfinished tasks. Childhood is the time of preparation for future social service.

Biologically, the child is the oldest member of society. Each one of us is a living testimonial to the development of man from the single celled protozoa thru all intermediary stages, piscian, amphibian, anthropoid, to his present thnoid stage of biological attainment. The young child represents a stage in biological development ages remote. The child comes to us the most helpless of all young animals. But in his helplessness lies his possibility of future development.

Because the young child is the most helpless of all animals young, he is the richest in possibilities of development. At birth his nervous system is largely unorganized, he is educable, he is capable of learning new modes of response to surroundings.

Environmental influences affect both body and mind and thus determine physique and mentality. Because the child is plastic of body and mind and because he is so imitative, environment is fundamental. A community in which disease was epidemic would not constitute a suitable environment for the rearing of children. So long as a single child in the community is infected with a contagious disease, our own children are not safe. A prominent American citizen once said that, "Our country will not be a good place for any of us to live in until it becomes a reasonably good place for all of us to live in." We cannot build a barrier of exclusiveness about ourselves and exclude disease germs. We are each our brother's keeper, in matters of child welfare as well as community hygiene.

Any child will be handicapped for the fullest and highest development so long as any other child with whom he may come in contact has not been properly reared. Hence we must cooperate in every way to eradicate poverty, ignorance, immorality, crime—in short all antisocial practices in order to perfect the environment for all children.

The organization of a Parent-Teachers Association would give all an opportunity to meet and discuss such vital subjects as, Health Care of Children. Moral Education of Children.

WOMAN'S CLUB YEAR OPENS FAVORABLY

The first General Club Meeting of the year was held at the home of Mrs. Robinson Tuesday afternoon. This meeting was a combined business and social meeting. The rooms were gracefully draped with virginia creeper which showed the effects of the cold snap in its brilliant colorings. There were in the neighborhood of forty members and guests present, the club beginning the year with a membership of forty-two.

After the business meeting, each department was represented by its chairman or a substitute in a short paper or talk concerning its work of last year and that planned for the coming year.

Mrs. Perrin, chairman of the literary department presented an interesting paper on "Drama of Today" Mrs. Sine mentioned with satisfaction the objects accomplished last year, in the way of cleaning the alleys and neglected premises also the establishment of a camping ground for tourists near the town, and commented on the suggestion of signing the streets, remarking that its cost would be prohibitive for the Woman's Club. The Educational department was represented by Mrs. Beck, the Home Economics department by Mrs. E. A. Miller and Mrs. Degering spoke of the interesting art pictures to be shown on the screen at the Sultana at some time during the year under management of the art department.

The president, Mrs. Cureton in her address appeals to all women to take greater interest in club work, speaking of its broadening influence and great value in teaching women, toleration and the art of "getting along with each other."

Miss Esther Carlson and Mrs. Lee sang solos at the conclusion of the program.

Mrs. Etta Gifford Young, a prominent club woman from Phoenix, was a guest of honor and spoke briefly to the ladies.

Miss Todd's Meeting A Frost

Miss Todd who was advertised to address the voters of Williams last Friday night on the shortcomings of the democratic party and the advantage of supporting Hughes as an aid to the cause of woman suffrage did not get a very good hearing. She certainly made no converts and will make none, nor will any of the advocates of the policy of holding Mr. Wilson or his party solely responsible for the failure of Congress to enact legislation leading to the adoption of the Susan B. Anthony Amendment. The position of the Woman's Party advocates is too illogical to commend itself to the women voters of the suffrage states.
